SATURDAY, APRIL 25TH DATE SET FOR HANCOCK SPECIAL SALON ELECTION

On That Date Election Will Be Held To Fill Vacancy
Caused By Death of Representative Bryan Russell—
Bilbo Might Call Special Session May 1.

Governor T. G. Bilbo on Wednesday called a special election to fill a legislative vacancy in Hancock County and had on his commission for two senators recently named in special elections, which immediately started rumors that the executive was laying plans for an extra session of the legislature sometime prior to May 1st.

The proclamation sets April 25 for the election in Hancock county, to fill the seat vacated by the death of Representative A. Bryan Russell.

Necessity of an extra session has been voiced by state department heads in calling attention to obligations of more than $650,000 due May 1, and a total of $7,000,000 due before the next session of the legislature in January 1932 under a new administration. No funds are in the state treasury to meet current debts or to pay bonds and interest due May for the remainder of the year.

Commissions acknowledging the election of two senators in recent elections were prepared for the governor at his order and are on his desk awaiting his return from an investigating tour of the state penal system at Parchman. They are for Alfred R. Wiygul, who was elected senator from the 38th district to succeed Dr. J. H. Stone, resigned, and J. T. Lowery, elected to succeed the late R. S. Stewart of Liberty.

SELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard To Head
Bay St. Louis Kings'
Daughters For New Year.

At the regular monthly meeting of Bay St. Louis Kings' Daughters and Sons held at Hotel Weston, Monday afternoon, new officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year.

President, Mrs. E. J. Leonhard; Vice-President, Mrs. E. L. Nye; Secretary, Mrs. Ralph Ruggan; Treasurer, Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois; Publicity, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau; Entertainment, Mrs. K. W. Pepperdene.

Sewing, Mrs. Durande Desporte. Collecting, Mrs. Ned W. Ivy. Mrs. Fournier, present president, will be succeeded by Mrs. E. J. Leonhard, present vice-president. Mrs. Fournier at present officially touring the State. Annual State Convention to be held this spring, will be at Bay St. Louis, and will attract an unusually large attendance. Mrs. Ruggan, State president, has been untiring and successful in the success of the great cause the work represents.

PASS ROTARIANS ELECT DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

Bernard L. Knost Becomes
President With James Terrell as Vice-President

Following an election for a new board of directors, Pass Christian Rotary Club on Tuesday of this week elected Bernard L. Knost an executive of the Alton B. Hayden Company, president, and James M. Terrell, resident Pass Christian manager Mississippi Power Company, vice-president.

D. A. Long, secretary, was unanimously re-elected a deserved compliment and recognition of efficiency, as well as treasurer.

Others forming the newly elected board of directors include Frank A. French, H. B. Barkdale, Wm. V. Robinson, Wm. F. Adams.

Mrs. Adams, present president, automatically becomes a member of the board of directors.

Pass Christian Club is one of the largest and most active clubs of the county, and its activities and projects are of great benefit and more than ordinary interest.

"CAPT. APPLEJACK" ENGLISH DRAMA, TO BE PRESENTED HERE

Will Take Place at S. J. A.
Gym—Benefit Kings'
Daughters' Hospital
—Local Cast.

Captain Applejack, thrilling English drama, will be given at St. Joseph's Academy Gym on the evening of Wednesday of next week, sponsored by the Kings' Daughters and Sons and the full proceeds will be appropriated to the local hospital. Such call is certainly appealing to say nothing of the character of fine entertainment.

The play is presented by Mrs. Thornhill Broome of Pass Christian whose various plays in the last two or three seasons have scored so generally. Captain Applejack will not be the exception. It is one of the best of the series.

The scenery and stage settings for this play are most exquisite and appropriate and the costumes are beautiful and attractive.

Cast of characters presenting the play next week in Bay St. Louis follows:

Lush.....Donald Sutter
Poppy Faire.....Elizabeth Taylor
Mrs. Agatha Whom.....Katherine Northrop
Ambrose Applejohn.....Minor Sutter
Anna Valeska.....Hazel Adam Woods
Mrs. Pengard.....Peggy Gause

Donna.....Billy Ryan
John Jaso.....Anderson McCollier
Pirates—Cy Engman, Fritz Peranich,
Paul Blake, Clay Ryan, Geo. DeMetz, L. S. Elliott, Donald Sutter, Francis McDonald.

Admission will be, adults 35 cents, and children 20 cents. Tickets are on sale now. Bring the kiddies, they will enjoy it too!

Plenty of action, full song and wholesome entertainment. Everybody will enjoy the play.

BAY PANTHERS PLAY GULFPORT TARPONS HERE SUNDAY, 19TH.

The Bay St. Louis Panthers, members of the Mississippi Coast League, who lost a 5 to 0 decision to the strong Ocean Springs Cubs, last Sunday, will play the Gulfport Tarpons this Sunday, 19th, at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

This is the first meeting of the season between the Panthers and the Tarpons and gives promise of a red-hot contest, both boasting better and faster teams than in previous seasons.

Bay fans should give the Panthers their support by coming out Sunday in full force and rooting their team on to victory. So far, two games have been played, one won and one lost—and they're going out there Sunday to win another.

FINE YOUTH DIES AT N. O. HOSPITAL

Joseph Benigno, Aged 19,
Succumbs To Aftermath
Of Surgical Operation.

Joseph Benigno, native of Bay St. Louis, aged 19 years, died at Touros Infirmary, New Orleans Wednesday night at 8:10 o'clock, following an operation for appendicitis when gangrene set in. All that could be done through medium of science and personal administration was carried out in order that this fine youth could be saved but the inevitable was not to be thwarted.

Remains came out from New Orleans Thursday morning to the residence of his father, Ben Benigno, corner West Third and St. Francis Sts. The funeral will take place this Friday morning at 10 o'clock, with services from the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf, interment at St. Mary's Cemetery.

In addition to his father he is survived by his mother, one sister and several brothers. He was an exemplary young man, well liked, and the news of his passing away has brought much sorrow.

MRS. E. J. LEONHARD IS HONORED BY HOME O. E. S. CHAPTER

Is Officially Received By Home Chapter as State
Leader—Visits Over
State.

The Bay St. Louis chapter No. 129, Order of the Eastern Star, had as its official visitor at the last meeting Mrs. E. J. Leonhard of the Bay who is district deputy grand matron this year. Mrs. Leonhard was honored by her home chapter on this official visit. The chapter named Miss Miriam Engman official representative to the grand chapter meeting in Hattiesburg. Another member of this chapter, Miss Irma Koch, has been honored by being named a page to the grand chapter meeting. Plans were made by the chapter for its birthday party to be given next month.

Mrs. Leonhard has been received over the state with general acclaim and her work has carried on to a greater success. This is a fine showing for the beautiful order and incidentally we might say a fine advertisement for Bay St. Louis and the balance of the Coast section.

MUSIC CLUB SCORES

Schubert Music Club Presents
"The Lost Necklace"
With Marked Artistry
And Finish.

A local cast, composed of members of the Schubert Club of Bay St. Louis added lustre to the composition in its rendition of the Lost Necklace, operetta in one act, on the occasion of its presentation last Friday night at St. Joseph's Academy Gym, benefit gym building fund, netting after defraying heavy expenses, the handsome sum of approximately $137.00. This amount cash the Music Club presented to Mother Claire, superior of St. Joseph's Academy, who received it as graciously and appreciatively as it was tendered.

The spacious and attractive interior of the gym was comfortably filled with a fashionable and appreciative audience from the Bay-Waveland district, New Orleans and from along the Gulf coast.

Miss Evelyn Lacoste scored quite a success in her role as musical director and Mr. Thornhill Broome as dramatic director and with Mrs. Val Yates, scored equally as well. Directing ability and staging art is by no means the least of success. On the contrary, it is an integral part of the scheme of things. This was outstanding in Friday's portrayal of "The Lost Necklace."

Before commenting further, the scribe wishes to digress a little in order to dilate on the beauty of the grape arbor which covered the stage. As the synopsis of the play further down will show the scene was one set out in all the glory of Spanish sunshine. Here were the gold and purple grapes, in great clusters, and the story of the necklace, lost in the overhead entrenchment of the wealth of grapes as in only Spain they grow, with the lushness of meat and deliciousness of meat.

It required five hundred bunches of grapes to supply the arbor. These were made with artistic exactitude, and with spot lights in varying shades of illumination presented a scene that will not be forgotten. The all to the credit of the Schubert Club and its artistic workers.

In the world of our every day beaux arts, the Schubert Music Club of Bay St. Louis is one of our outstanding assets. It represents a sphere of our lives that is integral, contributing to our happiness and well being, for as well as the body, the soul and its mentality for music, poetry and flowers must be fed, even though all top seldom as it is.

As accompanying pianist Mrs. Winfield Partridge, as usual sustained her well known work and carried on through the operetta with that manner which stamps her as a musician of no ordinary interpretative ability.

Misses Cora Sudcamp and Bernice Johnson sounded the triangles.

INTEREST HIGH FOR ROTE SHOW

Gulfpark Frolics Promises to Attract Crowd at Bay Hi
Auditorium For Rotary Club Tonight.

Interest is running high in the presentation this Friday night by the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club of Gulfpark Frolics, benefit night school fund.

Mr. Albert T. Davies, manager of Gulf Park, Mr. Rupert Cook and others visited Bay St. Louis this week in the interest of presenting the Frolics, and stated the party playing and presenting the program will number sixty people, the largest number yet to appear in the well-known annual stage presentation.

Gulfpark Frolics is by far the best presented, is said by those fortunate at Gulfport to have already seen the presentation, and surely no one will wish to miss it in Bay St. Louis, an opportunity that will not present itself again this season.

Chart for reserved seats may be seen at the Beach Drug Store, where Miss Clara Kerposien is in charge of the sale. Quite a nice number of tickets yet to be had, however, it might be well to make early selections. Tickets, including reserved seats, are only 60 cents. Regular tickets, 35 cents.

Waveland-Ocean Springs Game for Sunday Transferred to Ocean Springs

J. P. Usher, president Waveland baseball club informs the Echo that the Waveland-Ocean Springs game for April 19th, has been transferred to Ocean Springs on account of Waveland park not in condition. Its opening date will be May 3, when Waveland plays host to Pass Christian.

The park is located on Spanish Trail two blocks from L. & N. depot, Waveland.

LANDSCAPING GROUNDS

The E. V. Richards place on North Beach Boulevard which was landscaped last year by Marshall B. Allen of Long Beach, is having additional plantings made at present. Mr. Allen placing at this time annual blooming plants. The foundation planting of evergreens are in excellent condition.

TWO WOMEN ON OLD SPANISH TRAIL ARE HURT

Auto On Old Spanish Trail

Refusing to admit they were seriously hurt, and refusing to speak about themselves, Miss Iredell and a Miss Blackburn both claiming New York City as their home were brought to the Kings' Daughters' Emergency Hospital of Bay St. Louis Tuesday afternoon.

It appeared the two ladies, aged approximately 40, were traveling by automobile, returning from a trip to New Orleans. It was ascertained they had spent the winter in Florida and on their way back home. The loose gravel above Bay St. Louis, a death menace to all who travel this section of O. S. T., got their car in its death-like grip and turned them over.

Miss Iredell sustained the greater injury, her injury consisting of an injured vitabral. After receiving emergency attention the ladies were taken to Gulfport Kings' Daughters Hospital to receive further attention. Physicians at both hospitals pronounced their respective injuries of undetermined seriousness as yet.

R. L. GENIN ASKS FOR SUPPORT

Is Formally Announced As Candidate to Fill Unexpired
Term of County
Representative.

Robert L. Genin, veteran in the House of Representatives from Hancock County, is announced in this issue of The Echo as a candidate to fill the unexpired term of the late Bryan Russell.

Governor Bilbo has called a special election in Hancock County to fill the unexpired term on Saturday, April 25.

He has served the county as its representative at various times, first elected in 1912 to 1918, serving then six consecutive years. He served again in 1926 the unexpired term of Capt. C. L. Waller, two years, thus giving him an experience of years of active service that will serve him to advantage of his constituents.

The special term of the legislature, which Gov. Bilbo will probably call May 1 will be to consider two important measures, roads and revenue. On these everyone knows Mr. Genin stands as he favors better roads for less money and lower taxation. The adoption of such measures is very necessary, he says, and if elected he is going to exercise every endeavor to bring about these reforms. In fact, he states, that is the wish of the State and the people must be served.

The Echo commends the announcement of "Bob" Genin. He has both experience and ability. His acquaintance over the State will serve him in good stead.

ROTARY OF BAY CITY ELECTS

Board of Directors to Serve
For the Forthcoming Year.
—Officers to be Named

At the annual election for a board of directors, held by the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club on Wednesday of this week after balloting for eight members to serve as directors, the following named were selected by secret ballot here presented in alphabetical order:

Dr. James A. Evans, Prof. S. J. Ingram, Joseph O. McDonald, C. G. McDonald, John J. McDonald, Chas. G. Moreau, Arthur A. Seafide, Leo W. Seal.

Geo. R. Rea who had "tied" with another member graciously withdrew.

This newly-elected board will meet probably today and select a president, secretary, treasurer and other officers. The newly-elected president will then appoint the standing committees for the year.

Bay St. Louis Rotary Club plays an important part in the civic and uplift life of the city, and is active and doing all the time. It is quite representative, composed as it is, of men from the ranks of professional and business men, adhering strictly to classification. It is one of the fifty clubs in the 17th district.

MARK OLIVER OUT FOR CONSTABLE, BEAT FIVE, HANCOCK CO.

Former Chief of Police Is Announced For Beat Office—Courteous and Fearless.

Mark Oliver has made official announcement as a candidate for the office of Constable of Beat Five.

He has had considerable experience as an officer, having held the position of Chief of Police of the city of Bay St. Louis for a period of two years, during that time he handled all types and characters of violations of the law. The people of the city of Bay St. Louis, and Beat Five especially know of his qualifications and fearlessness in enforcing the law.

Mark Oliver never hesitates at any time to answer any call, and could always be depended upon in doing his duty, whether it be friend or not, late or early hours. He always guarded the public interest zealously, and was always recognized as one who had the ability and courage to perform his duties as an officer at any and all time.

He was always courteous and polite, and treated the visitors of the city of Bay St. Louis with utmost courtesy and consideration. He served in the U. S. Army for twenty-two months during the world's War, and served his country in its hours of trouble, and was honorably discharged at the end of the war.

If elected, the people of this Beat will feel that their interest and safety would be protected at all times.

His formal announcement appears in this issue of The Echo.

TWO HOLD-UP MEN CAPTURED ON BRIDGE AFTER ROBBERY

Pass and Bay Police Do
Quick Work After Acquainted With Facts
In Case.

Chief of Police A. E. Saucier, of Bay St. Louis, made quite a capture this week when he arrested Willie McCrory and Lawrence Rouse, both of Hattiesburg on a charge of holding up Richard White, negro chauffeur of Miss L. C. Del Bondio, residing at West end of Pass Christian beach. White was robbed of his watch and $3.00 in cash.

Chief Saucier also discovered the alleged bandits were riding in a stolen car, belonging to J. A. Stevens of Hattiesburg, and bearing a license plate said to have been stolen from Hattiesburg. Chief Saucier turned his men over to Chief of Police of Pass Christian, where after given a hearing before a justice of the peace were bound over to the Harrison county grand jury, which bond in the sum of $8000 they failed to give.

Horace W. Avery Celebrates 73rd Birthday On Tuesday, April 14.

Horace W. Avery, of Detroit, who spends his winters, accompanied by Mrs. Avery here every year, on Tuesday of this week celebrated his 73rd birthday and was the recipient of a number of congratulatory messages, by mail and wire and quite a number of remembrances as well.

On April 21, one week later, Mr. and Mrs. Avery will celebrate their fifty-first wedding anniversary. The Averages have loads of friends wherever known and who will wish many recurrences of the eventful anniversary.

Missionary Society To Meet On Tuesday Next

Home Missionary Society will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, April 21, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. C. C. Clark.

There will be three joint hostesses to entertain the guests, Mrs. C. C. Clark, Mrs. J. C. Buckley and Mrs. C. M. Shipp. Members and other friends are asked to be present. All are cordially welcomed.

Strawberry growers in the vicinity of Long Beach announce the shipment Monday of 225 crates of berries by express at an average price of $3.55 a crate which was said to be 31 cents a crate more than berries at Hammond brought on the same day. The berries were said by buyers who paid cash for them to be of an excellent quality.

With favorable weather conditions berry picking will proceed rapidly now in sufficient quantities to assure carload movement.

On Thursday afternoon of this week the first carload of strawberries shipped from the Mississippi Coast was sent on its way to Cincinnati, by the Gulf Coast Strawberry Association. This carload contained the minimum of 620 cases and quite a quantity of the berries are from farms in Hancock County, the Carniche and other places along the Old Spanish Trail. Within less than 48 hours these growers will have the money cash in hand for shipment. The berries are sold cash in advance.

Appears Before Rotary Club.

Dr. A. R. Robertson, of Pass Christian, appeared Wednesday before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and spoke interestingly and constructively of the success of berry growing on the Gulf Coast, what it meant for the Hammond section and how much it would mean to this section.

He spoke in the interest of the industry and proposed that as many of our citizens as possible would financially sponsor for next season at least one acre; that it would approximate $60.00. He said there should be over two thousand acres planted in berries in Hancock and Harrison counties for next season. It would not only serve as a personal investment but would prove such an asset that the value of our surplus agricultural land would not only be sustained but possibly soar.

By a vote the proposed move was endorsed by the club, the same as the Pass Rotary Club did the day previously. The motion carries that a committee of three be appointed to introduce and sponsor the work. The chair appointed George R. Rea, chairman; Henry Osinich and Joseph O. Mauffray.

This committee will meet, subject to the call of the chairman. A motorcade will leave Gulfport about 1 o'clock Sunday, to Hammond to view the berry fields at best. Will arrive at Hotel Weston, Bay St. Louis about 1:30 and the public is cordially invited to participate in this motorcade. Dr. Robertson is leading the trip.

He says every one can be back early that night. Further information might be had of him by telephoning to his office or residence at Pass Christian.

TROOP NO. 208 BOY SCOUTS HOLD WEEKLY MEETING LAST FRIDAY

Last Friday, April 10, 1931, Troop No. 208 Boy Scouts of America held its weekly meeting. Five of the boys have already secured their uniforms. Durant du Ponte joined at this meeting.

Dr. E. J. Anderson spoke of the advantages of the Red Cross and how it helped to pass first and second class tests. Scout G. Bougeois passed a test in Wig-Wag Signalling and Scout J. Dickson the compass test. E. J. Anderson, Jr., directed a little drilling. The game of "Red Man" was played. Dr. E. J. Anderson instructed the boys on the necessity of being on time for all meetings and of going directly home after the meetings.

Knights of Columbus To Hold Meeting at K. C. Hall Next Sunday P. M.

Pere Le-Duc Council, Knights of Columbus, No. 1522, will hold its regular meeting at K. C. Home on the evening of Sunday, April 19, 7:30 P. M., and Grand Knight A. A. Seafide has sent out notices to all members to that effect and urging full attendance, if possible.

M. J. O'Leary, special agent of the Supreme Council, will be present and will address the Council. Members will want to meet him.

Local K. C's are looking forward to the State Council, which will convene at Jackson, Miss., in May, and at the Bay St. Louis meeting Sunday night delegates and alternates to Jackson will be elected.

ACCEPTS JURISDICTION.

ON Monday last the supreme court announced its acceptance of original jurisdiction in the prosecution of the disbarment charges brought against six well known Mississippi lawyers, three of whom are State officials and fixed May 5 as the date to hear pleadings of the accused on the merits of the accusations filed by the grievance committee of the bar association. The decision accepting original jurisdiction was written by Associate Justice V. A. Griffith and was concurred in by Chief Justice Sydney Smith and Associate Justices McGowan, Cook and Anderson. Associate Justice Ethridge, dissented from the majority, holding that in his opinion the constitution and statutes limited prosecutions of disbarment cases to the lower courts. Owing to the prominence of the accused lawyers, interest in their trial is State-wide and such interest will not abate until a final termination of the prosecution is reached.

TO HAVE HOUSE-CLEANING.

It would look like Chicago is going to have a sure-enough house-cleaning, now that "Big Bill" Thompson has been gotten out of the city hall. There is abundant proof that "Big Bill" was aligned with the beer barons and underworld characters, and that fact accounts for Cennack's great majority of 192,000 votes in the mayoralty race.

WARMING UP FOR CAMPAIGN.

The half dozen candidates for governor are warming up for the campaign which will be in full blast a month hence. Each of them, with one exception, are making speeches in all parts of the State, but so far there has not been a single joint discussion. Until they get on the same platform the fur will not begin to fly.

THE SOONER THE BETTER.

The deeper the probe goes into Tennessee's official investigations more evidence is dug up that wholesale corruption has been the order of the day in that State for several years. When a lot of her freebooters are put behind jail bars it may serve as a warning to other officials who betray the trust reposed in them by the people.

WE ARE WITH JIMMY.

Mayor Jimmy Walker is back in New York ready to fight his enemies who are holding him responsible for all the sins committed by his Tammany Hall friends. Our sympathy is with Jimmie and we are hoping that he will come out of his struggle with flying colors.

OLD MAN DEPRESSION GOING.

Hardly a day goes by that some Mississippi bank forced to close its doors a few months ago does not resume operation. That is a good sign that conditions are gradually growing better, and before very long Old Man Depression will have taken his departure.

We are wondering if the ousting of Mayor Thompson of Chicago will put an end to the gangster killings in the city. We doubt it.

Up to the first day of April the government had paid out more than $200,000,000 to World War veterans. The average amount loaned per veteran was $377.00.

Prison sentences, to run consecutively totaling 110 years, were imposed on Paul Wupper, the Nebraska banker who confessed embezzlement of "around a million dollars."

"Play Ball!" The season's scheduled for the big league games was off to a good start this week, and from now until September every baseball fan will be more interested in the game than in anything else.

And now it is reported that Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight champion, and his wife Estelle Taylor, have come to the parting of their ways. Maybe there are no grounds for the report but it is just another publicity stunt.

Poor old Albert B. Fall, former Republican secretary of the interior, who was convicted and sentenced to a year in jail for acceptance of a bribe of $100,000, has lost his appeal in the District of Columbia supreme court. Just what the next step to be taken by his attorneys will be is not reported, but it is a safe guess that it will be some time before the aged and infirm ex-official will give up his fight to escape the punishment he so richly deserves.

Roger Babson, the noted statistician, declares "it is a penny-wise and pound-foolish policy to cut down advertising because business is dull," and points out that advertising is a valuable tool which can cut its way through sales resistance and competition to progress and profits. "No business concern that fails to heed the wisdom of Mr. Babson's observation can hope to enlarge its clientele of customers without the publicity that comes from a free and unobscured use of number one ink." And yet we continue to hear some business men saying that advertising doesn't pay.

START WAR AGAINST FREAK ADVERTISING.

War has been declared by the Hattiesburg Chamber of Commerce on stunt and flim-flam advertising schemes. In the future all persons having causal or special advertising schemes will be required to submit their proposals to the chamber of commerce for approval. According to the chamber, Hattiesburg merchants have lost thousands of dollars through "fly-by-night" advertising schemes. Gulfport Guide.

There is not a city or town of any size in the country that is not periodically visited by promoters of stunt and flim-flam advertising, and strange to say business men "fall" for such propositions time after time. Such methods of securing publicity and increasing their trade are absolutely worthless, and it does seem they would realize that fact.

If chambers of commerce in other cities would follow the lead taken by the Hattiesburg organization, they would do the business concerns of their respective communities a real service.

ON THE WANE.

The day of the demagogue appears on the wane. Possibly even Mississippi will come to her senses by the time August rolls around and choose a leader who presents a sound program instead of a set of silly promises conveniently written with disappearing ink. Hattiesburg American. We will agree that the day of miracles has not passed, if and when such a leader is chosen. It has now been a number of years since we have had any man at the head of our State government who possessed any of the essential qualities of leadership of the right sort. Such as we have had, as the American says, attained leadership on "a set of silly promises conveniently written with disappearing ink." Out of the number now aspiring to leadership, may the good Lord guide the electorate to choose the most worthy in the August primaries.

BOTH GOOD MEN.

It is rather a hard matter to prophesy who will be the Democratic standard-bearer in next year's presidential campaign, but the two names mentioned most frequently are those of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith. Heretofore, they, the two New Yorkers, have been Bosom friends and now it is rumored that coolness exists between them due to the fact that both are anxious to secure their party's nomination. It would be most unfortunate should their rivalry result in an open clash and thereby risking loss of the Empire State to the Democrats. It is possible that one or both of the distinguished aspirants will step aside to insure harmony in the party's ranks. Both are big men and either would make an ideal president.

PROMISES OF 1928 NOT KEPT.

Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, was "on the air" the other day and in his speech he urged the South to "quit camping in a political graveyard and join hands with the Republican party," and declaring that its protection tariff with other Republican policies have "redounded to the development of the South and the prosperity of her people." It strikes us that this is no time for G. O. P. Speakers to have anything to say about "prosperity." Their promises made in 1928 have not been carried out in either this or any other point of the country, so the South will be satisfied to camp awhile longer in a political graveyard.

HON. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH.

The death of Hon. Nicholas Longworth, three times speaker of the House of Representatives, removes from public life one of our country's most popular statesmen. A staunch Republican, he was as much loved and admired by leaders of the Democratic party of Congress as by his own party colleagues. He was a native of Ohio, scion of a wealthy and aristocratic family and yet a man of the people and his honesty and integrity as a public servant was never questioned. It is a pity that there are not more men in public life like him.

WAGES OF SIN.

Eight negroes hoboed, none of whom were over 19 years of age, have been sentenced to death in the electric chair in Alabama. Their crime was assaulting two young white girls. It is doubtful if any American court has ever before pronounced the death penalty on an equal number of culprits at the one time, but we are fearful that even such wholesale punishment will have much effect in deterring black brutes from committing the same crime for which those Alabama negroes will die.

IF IT'S TRUE?

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger is authority for the statement that Governor Bilbo has issued 1541 pardons and suspensions of sentence to penitentiary convicts during the three years and three months he has been in office. If these figures are correct and the Clarion-Ledger says they were taken from official records, our Judge Walter A. White had excuse for saying a short time since it would be a good thing to suspend criminal trials until after Bilbo's term as governor has expired.

THE ONLY COURSE TO PURSUE.

Reports coming from all sections of the State are to the effect that Mississippi farmers are further ahead with their planting operations than ever before at this season of the year. And, too, they are preparing to diversify their usual program in the growing of crops. It is only by pursuing that course they can ever hope to make agriculture a success.

King George of England has been sick again, and all of his subjects are very much worried over his condition.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS By Chicagoan

Last Week's News Reviewed by A Distant Onlooker

Chicago, Ill., April 14.—For every 134 people in the State of Mississippi there is one filling station according to the figures quoted in last week's Echo. Without the statistics at hand, I venture the guess there is no other enterprise that can show such a record.

Of course, in the Coast country Springtime is perpetual, so the filling station benefits from its year-round opportunities. To those of us who lived our youth in more northern climates, one of the surest signs of Spring used to be the removal of long red flannels and the bath which washed away the last maternal application of molasses and sulphur. But now! It's the annual inventory of the "old bus." The first warm breeze that follows the appearance of the robin brings a check for the open road. We would be up and away... off into a Land O' Dreams, with a ribbon road winding before us into where the blue sky dips to the awaiting earth. And that's why you see so many automobiles in Bay St. Louis which have come from other parts of the State and contribute to the maintenance of those filling stations, by consuming part of the 140,000,000 gallons of gasoline annually dispensed.

Well, so much for that, but along the roads that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edgar Carter, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Netto will travel on their honeymoon trips, there will be little markers expressing the love and the hopes of their many friends. Improved methods of travel, no doubt, play their part in modern courtships. But they cannot be given credit for the happiness that comes to wedded couples. Souls would blend, whether or not there were automobiles for courtship knights to park at night before the homes of their lady lovers.

And this is the season in which Boy Scouts revel, and last week's Echo told that the young fellows of Bay St. Louis have lost no time in preparing themselves for the club activities that are to come. From the experiences of the coming summer will come healthy minds and bodies. No need for worry about the future of the young generation so long as it is attracted by such organizations as Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Now here's that pest of a "Grouchy Gus," one of my associates whose usefulness has not yet been determined, suggesting that there must have been strings of cars parked at times around the establishment near Kiln which handles the potent beverages that find their way as far as Bogalusa. Well, maybe there were. I'm not the one to argue with Gus. But it does seem that those who imbibe of the Kiln variety of liquor have better chance of driving their cars, than do those who fill themselves with less "reputable" distillations.

Bay St. Louis has its Rotary as many of its achievements constantly remind us. Due to its efforts, the High School will be crowded this Friday night by people who will come to witness the performance of "Footlight Frolics," the proceeds of which will go to the support of the Rotary Night School. Rotarians know that the path of men are never traveled singly, and that it is only by ever keeping in mind the welfare of others that true happiness and success are attained.

Carl, Emilie Koch John Hubert Remy Mrs. J. E. Rodgers, Mrs. Jane Bennett Hoyer and August Scherger have traveled this life's road to its end, so last week's Echo sadly related. Out Beyond, into eternal space, stretches another road that has no end. Nile man and woman, fortified by the strength gained during their earth-life, set out on the Great Adventure with a firm tread. And the fruits of this life will be gathered as they traverse the Celestial highway.

As he helped his comrades bear the body of his beloved coach to its final resting place, the heart of Marchmont Schwartz must have been sad indeed, and part of that manly heart is buried beneath the clay that encompasses the mortal remains. But though death has taken from Marchmont the body of him who inspired that young man in his rise to fame on grid-iron and campus and in the classroom of historic Notre Dame, nothing will ever erase from his memory the lessons learned while under the tutelage of the world's greatest athletic director.

A generation ago, under a burning sun John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain fought a (with hair flies, I think) a fierce battle on a plot of ground near Hattiesburg. On that spot today, says last week's Echo, there stand eighty-one modern buildings devoted to the production of chickens and eggs. Boxing is a much more profitable and dignified game to Sullivan and Kilrain. If M. Drumm may not be remembered as long as the prize fighters, but I'm not the one to say that his industry will not result in greater benefits to society.

CURRENT COMMENT

For The Sea Coast Echo.

The Inter-oceanic Canal Board says that the earthquake in Nicaragua has not started any new train of thought regarding the construction of a Nicaragua canal, and that the Panama Canal could be damaged by earthquake quite as readily as a canal in the country mentioned. The Panama Canal has come to be taken so generally as an established fact, that one is startled by the suggestion that an earthquake might leave our western coasts unprotected while war vessels were chugging along the time-consuming voyage around the Horn.

In the realm of sports, an Englishman has driven a speed boat 103 miles an hour, thereby shattering a record made by an American a short time ago. The maker of the American record has at least one thing to be thankful for: John Bull gave him time to get into the movies, before he had to take a back seat.

The fellow charged with killing Jake Lingle, the reporter, in Chicago, got 14 years after 24 ballots by the jury. The public is entitled to speculate as to whether so light a sentence, following so long a debate, really represents what a pronounced majority thought should be done in the case.

Those who have had to struggle through an income tax blank in the not very remote past, will be inclined to say, "Serves you right," upon reading that the government is busy with a questionnaire sent out by the League of Nations.

Two or three years ago, King George of England had a lung attack which threatened to be his undoing. Today his country is troubled over the report that he may have to wrestle again with the old malady. Being an English king is not so much of a job as it used to be, and George's place as an Administrator could be filled without difficulty. He is, however, a kindly and not altogether useless soul, occupying a large place in the affections of his subjects, and their solicitude for his welfare is justifiable.

A man in Reading, Pa., has given a million dollars, to be expended along wisely chosen lines, in an effort to promote understanding and friendly relations between the United States and Germany. There are many who value peace and wish for it. Few really act, in terms of dollars, and the number who act in the terms of dollars while they are yet alive, is smaller still.

Some of the chiefs of one of the leading political parties approve the desire of the chairman of its national committee to find out what the party thinks about prohibition, and then take a definite stand on that subject. To declare definitely on prohibition may not be the best of policies, but it is sound statesmanship. The prohibition question does not differ from any other question which the people are entitled to decide. If there are more wets than dries in the land, then the land should be wet. If the dries outnumber the wets, then the land should be dry. There is no disguising the fact that the prohibition garment as at present constructed, does not give entire satisfaction to the wearer. He desires should be ascertained and carried out. The rival political tailors should display their samples and patterns openly at the next presidential election.

The State Department has called for a report on the number of looters shot by the marines during the Nicaragua earthquake. It is to be hoped that they need the information merely that praise may be awarded those to whom it is justly due.

YOUR PROTECTION FROM LOSS

DO ALL you possibly can to prevent fire but don't rely entirely in the protective measures you have taken, because even they can fail. Fire is no respecter of persons; you may be the next to suffer. That is why it's wise to take out a fire insurance policy from G. E. R. Rea, Agt., and be protected from loss. The cost is negligible when you consider the tremendous possible loss the ravages of fire can cause you.

SAFETY IN FREIGHT HANDLING

Since the railroads were released from Federal control in 1920, one of their outstanding achievements has been the remarkable reduction in loss and damage to freight shipments.

From 1921, the first full year of operation after Federal control, to 1929, the number of revenue tons carried increased about 45 per cent; during the same periods, loss and damage to freight were reduced 61 per cent!

The record of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad for this period compares favorably with the national average. With an increase of 59 per cent in tonnage hauled, loss and damage were cut 64 per cent.

This improvement has been made possible both through the wholehearted cooperation of freight shippers and receivers, and through the intensive campaign conducted by the railroads among their employees. These influences have been further aided by the better handling methods and improved equipment developed in recent years.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad maintains for the benefit of shippers a staff of specialists on shipping and packing problems. These men are qualified to offer valuable suggestions concerning ways of reducing shipping losses. In order that a still greater improvement may be made in this problem of mutual interest, patrons are urged to take advantage of their services.

SPRING BRINGS RIOT OF COLOR OVER HILLS AND TEXAS PRAIRIE

The Land of Bluebonnet Abloom in Wild Color—Fields Suggest An Ocean-Like Mirage.

By JOHN T. MEYERS,
For The Sea Coast Echo.

Old King Boreas has finally relinquished his rule over the country, and now gentle Princess Springtime has mounted the seasonal throne. Everywhere the settings are in tone with this gladtime event. From woodlands, meadows, and seashore birds chirp melodious songs heralding the awakening of nature. Roses and wild flowers send off fragrant odors that are carried on the wings of bracing zephyrs, voicing an invitation for everyone to enjoy nature's wonders at the zenith of her glory.

Every section of the country has its individual springtime attractions to quicken the hearts of nature lovers with rapturous joy and appreciation. At this time the fields and hillsides of southwest Texas are carpeted in an indescribable mass of deep blue beauty. For the bluebonnets, state flower of Texas, are now in full bloom. These beautiful flowers bloom for a short time only, and many artists are daily at work transforming bluebonnet scenes to canvas.

This is truly the artists' hour of triumph. The countryside presents a riotous blend of colors with the solid bluebonnets predominating. On the outer edges of the dense bluebonnet growths little red, white, yellow, and pink wildflowers break the ocean-like mirage suggest that bluebonneted fields appear.

In the background the spring green hue of the mesquite trees artistically interwoven with their slender, gracefully curving limbs of shadowy outline, forms a pleasing contrast to the dazzling color scheme of fields and hillsides. Here and there a Spanish dagger plant sends its towering waxy leaves toward the sky. The perfume laden air and the beauties of nature on every turn tends to enchant and lures one to believe that this must be Fairyland, and surely little elves have been scampering about the countryside with paint and brush joyfully preparing a fitting throne for Princess Springtime.

Groups of Mexican peons in Texas are to be found at this time busily engaged in the task of gathering tender sprouts that will form new pearls of leaves on the curly pear cacti. The thorns on this plant are not very prominent at this stage of growth, and the poorer classes of Mexicans use these tender sprouts for food.

Old settlers claim that a tasty dish is prepared from the cactus when scrambled with eggs, or fried in corn batter. The Spanish dagger bloom, too, is not overlooked by the Mexicans. At a certain stage this huge growth is gathered and prepared in a manner similar to the way American people cook cabbage. And so it seems that Princess Springtime has been most kind to her less fortunate subjects. These poorer Mexican peons exist almost entirely on beans (frijoles) and tortillas, a pan cake bread made from ground corn. Wild game also helps toward the pangs of hunger during the winter months for Mexicans. For like the grasshopper in the fable, they are not inclined to be thrifty and foresighted. The average Mexican peon lives only for today leaving tomorrow's fate for another sunrise.

WAVELAND B. B. CLUB WHITEWASHES PASS PIRATES IN GAME

Sunday Afternoon With 10-0 Score—Telhiard Pitched The Final Stanza

The Waveland Baseball Club, baby some difficult chances without a tear League made a very impressive showing Sunday by whitewashing the Pirates of Pass Christian, score 10-0. Every member of the Waveland outfit covered himself with glory by playing a most brilliant brand of ball. Each man with the exception of two gathered at one safe single. One of the two that went hitless did not get a turn at bat. On the defense they played errorless ball, both the infield and the outfield handling some difficult chances without a bobble.

Bert Wilburn started the game for the Pass, but only lasted two and one-third innings. He was relieved by "Lefty" Spikes, who was forced to stick out the remainder of the bombardment. Robert Condon was on the mound for Waveland and hurled superb ball limiting the Pirates to three singles during the eight frames. "Pike" Telhiard pitched the final stanza and held the situation well in hand by retiring the side in quick fashion.

Waveland started scoring in the first, when Telhiard led off with a triple and was scored by a single. Another was added in the second on two singles an outfielder's error. Three more markers were recorded in the third on four hits, including a triple by Haas first baseman this being the longest hit during the game. After this point Spikes was ushered in, but nevertheless the avalanches continued, with every man on the Waveland team knocking the ball to all corners of the lot.

Waveland meets Ocean Springs this Sunday at Ocean Springs. A large delegation of rooters is expected to accompany the team to battle the Cubs Champions of 1930.

EDMONDS RETIRES AFTER 47 YEARS AS COAST GUARD

N. R. Stiles Succeeds Veteran Officer as Biloxi Base Commander

After 47 years of service, Captain S. P. Edmonds, commander of the Biloxi base, Mississippi Coast Guard, Tuesday completed his service by turning over the office to Lieutenant-Commander N. R. Stiles, who will be in charge of Base 15 with headquarters in Biloxi.

Captain Edmonds read his own order, relieving himself of the command and allowing him 120-day leave of absence, thereby completing his actual retirement from service in August. In relinquishing command, Captain Edmonds expressed pleasure in his association with officials of the local base.

Lieutenant-Commander Stiles read his own orders which transferred him from the Coast Guard cutter North Oakland on the Pacific coast to the Biloxi Base 15, expressing pleasure upon taking charge of the base.

The release of Captain Edmonds and the installation of Lieutenant-Commander Stiles, which took place at the base before the officers and enlisted men, was followed by an inspection made by the two officers.

During the ceremony good conduct medals were awarded Lieutenant C. C. Childs, Clarence A. Hamilton and Walter V. Turlington.

Lieutenant-Commander Stiles has seen considerable service in Coast Guard work.

Biloxi luncheon clubs will publicly honor Captain Edmonds for his long service and welcome Lieutenant-Commander Stiles to the city at a joint meeting next week.

BASEBALL STIRS BAY ST. LOUIS FANS

National Sport Holds Place In Hearts of Many Old-Timers.

Those of you in Bay St. Louis who have an idea that baseball is destined to be relegated to the sport dump heap, have another guess coming.

Baseball as a national sport occupies much the same place in the life of the average American citizen as does the Declaration of Independence. It's just a part of us, and there's no getting it out of our system.

Football, basket ball, tennis, golf and all other odd games will have their fans and their seasons, but none of them will take any of the spirit out of baseball.

With the season which marks the passing of the felts and incoming of the straw lids, the sport pages of the newspapers are filled with baseball dope, pictures of this and that player, records of last year and forecasts of the players and the various teams are expected to do this year, the baseball fan is in his glory.

His will be a constant state of keen excitement from now until the early fall when the big leagues go into the final tug of war for world honors in the nation's leading game.

If there were a cut in the minds of anyone here in the Bay that baseball is not as popular today as it ever was, let him take a walk down town and discuss the topic with any of the old-timers around these diggings.

They'll let you know mighty quick what they think about baseball, and if you will talk to any one of them long enough, you'll find out just when the bug first bit him. It's ten to one that he got his first inoculation way back yonder thirty, or forty years ago, and possibly before that when he was a youngster.

He'll tell you how the kids in his neighborhood used to gather on the back lot of Mr. So and So and play ball the entire afternoon. Maybe he'll tell you about some of those Saturday games which started early in the forenoon and ran continuously until it was too dark to see the ball.

He'll lay back with a big "Ha Ha," and tell you about the number of "tallies" as they used to call them, his team made, and how the fellows on the other side got mad and the game ended in a free for all.

"Yes, sir," he would say, "those were the days when baseball was baseball." One team would go to the bat and lambast the ball for fifteen or twenty runs and then the other side would do the same thing. The game would probably end with sixty or seventy scores for the winning side and maybe only a few less than that number for the losers.

These fellows are just as keen today in their interest in baseball as they ever were. They may not make such a to-do about it, but if you watch them of morning after they have had their morning paper, you'll find them slipping the pages and running down and smiling a little to themselves when they see their favorite team forging ahead in the percentage column.

Of course the game has changed a lot since the days when these old-timers played the game. A lot of science has been put into the game. It's a matter of generalship, so to speak, now, when in the old days it was a question of pitching the ball, hitting it and trying to make a score before a man on the other side could nail you.

Notwithstanding these changes, the interest is still there. The improvements in the methods of playing have possibly added more interest to the game. Therefore, if anything, baseball is today more entrenched as the nation's foremost sport than ever before.

By William A. by Condon 11; by Spikes 8; hit by pitched ball, Haas, D. Fayard 2, F. Bourgeois, T. Bourgeois, S. Spikes; forced by Condon, hit off Wilburn 7, with 4 runs in 21 3 innings; off Condon 3 with 0 runs in 3 innings; wild pitches, Condon 1; caught napping, Wilburn 2; ball caught by: Lascola, Levens 2, D. Fayard, Condon 2; Spikes 3; time of game 2:38; umpire Schlegel; score Blackwell.

SPORTS AT STANISLAUS

BOXING

Last Friday was memorable—it was the first real sunshine for many days and the Stanislaus leather-pushers received a thrashing from the hands of the Catholic High artists of the Baseline of endeavor. We want to say at the out-set that we still feel we can lick them notwithstanding the reports of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate and the State Times. We made a tremendous mistake in not taking our fifty-six pound weight class with us, or at least have smuggled into the spacious Gym a couple of sledge hammers.

When the dust of battle had subsided we were on the short end of a 2 to 1 score. We took one bout by default, Captain Bill Foster was the winner, or the goat, because Domene Graphia weighed two pounds less, he did not think it wise to exchange blows with our doughty Captain.

Dave Glover took on Horace Voorbies and for three rounds everything was firing on all cylinders. The Baton Rouge representative at the close of the third round our little scrapper was handed a draw.

Maxie Ganelloni 75-pound Catholic High scrapper defeated Joe Benedetto 71-pound Rock-A-Chaw. Joe was still scrapping for all he was worth at the end of the third round, but evidently he had started too late.

Jimmy Brousseau hung it all over Zonzalez. Our representative went in for a killing from the start and the more experienced Red Stick boy simply waited for the rushes and it was just a question of piling up points for the Catholic High squad.

Myke Manno 107-pound crashed his way to victory over Anthony Burguiers also 107-pounds. Burguiers took plenty of punishment and Manno was not slow to take advantage of the many openings given by the Bay St. Louis representative.

Sam Graphia 122 pounds battered out a three-round decision over Sam Ballard. Sam took everything this boy had. Sam's face was battered with almost everything around the ring.

Eddie Mansur won from Jules Moty in three rounds of what we thought should have been, "at the worst," a raw at the very least. Moty gave his opponent tit-for-tat on every count.

The main bout of the evening was with the knock-out artist of Catholic High, Dave Carville and our own Edmond Blaize. This scrap went for four rounds. We were thinking that perhaps the fourth round was for the purpose of giving the "dauntless boy" another opportunity of getting a knock-out, but Dave did not know that he was contending with a "blue." We hope they will have an opportunity of meeting again, when the Baton Rouge scrappers arrive here for a return engagement.

SMALL YARD ATHLETICS.

The Juniors returned Tuesday afternoon after spending their Easter holidays at home, and they were as happy a bunch of youngsters as could possibly be found.

A few of the boys were telling how they waited Saturday night to see the Rabbit, but to their dismay fell asleep before "Ole Peter Rabbit" arrived.

After Brother Leonhard had taken a look at the youngsters who seemed as though they needed sleep, he announced that they could be better to wait a week before starting baseball.

Everybody seems to be of the opinion that this will be a banner season for baseball amongst the small fellows.

THE TRACK TEAM.

The Rock-A-Chaw track team is getting ready for the Gulf Coast Regional Meet to be held Saturday April 18, at Biloxi.

The boys really have been working since their return from the Easter holidays. We feel sure that they will keep their name and crown as the "Gulf Coast Track Champs."

There is much competition among members of the Rock-A-Chaw track team every evening. Competition makes these boys work harder and fight more for a position on the team. And who ever will get a position will truly have to fight to hold it.

We expect plenty of competition from the other teams in the meet. That will only make our boys shine more because they are used to fighting for first place.

BASEBALL.

There are approximately seventy boys practicing in Bro. Vincent's Baseball League, which will be organized within the coming week.

There was a practice game Sunday morning between the Gas House Rats and the Drive-By Cowboys. The batteries of the game were, Lacour and Artriques for the Rats, and for the Cowboys were Bob, Lilley and Gremillion.

After a bad start the Rats came back in the last inning and defeated the Cowboys 4 to 3. But all of the spectators said that if Lilley had taken strawberry ice cream instead of vanilla he would have never lost the game.

COMMENTS ON SPORTS

TWO BIG BOUTS.
BOXING MANOEUVRES.
DAVIS CUP CHANCES.
BIG LEAGUES OPEN.

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

It begins to appear that there will be two heavyweight "championship" bouts this summer, if stories from New York are to be credited. Now that the Schmeling-Stribbling match is set for Cleveland, probably in July, promoters in New York it is said, plan a Sharkey-Carnera fight in June.

The New York State Athletic Commission, it is hinted, will reinstate Carnera in time for the fight and recognize the winner as "champion." This is enough to make several horses laugh out loud, even if a way is found to get around the various contracts, signed by the Ambling Alp.

The pre-season showing doesn't mean much. If it did Connie Mack's outfit would finish behind such aggregations as Washington, St. Louis, New York and Chicago. Somehow, we can't imagine it being done this year, at least, not for the Athletics to trail the four of them. With the real season under way fans will have to argue about the contestants in each league and leave until the fall the triumph of the National-American tussle.

James J. Johnson, promoting at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, is said to be back of the manoeuvre, with tacit backing of the commission. He figures on a gate of $825,000, with prices from $2 to $25, and the proceeds to go largely to charity. The fight, itself, ought to be worth seeing, but the back-scene manipulations won't do boxing any good.

Jean Borotra, home again in France, has probably reported that the chances of the United States to upset the French in the Davis Cup matches are slim. The truth is, they are, but American hopes rest upon the shoulders of young and coming tennis players, like Doeg, Wood, Vines and Sutter. They might improve faster than Borotra expects and surprise the Frenchmen. Of course, Choquet is usually conceded to win his two singles matches, and to take the cup the Americans must win the other two singles and the doubles match. It is a big order and not probable of accomplishment. At the same time the task is not impossible, and the hope is enough to keep the fans interested in the campaign this summer.

Wilbert Robinson, rotund boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, unlimbers himself to admit that he has the strongest team of his career to begin the season, and predicts that his outfit will be "one of the contenders." Well, he's about right. Last year the Dodgers were there much of the time and this season they have Lefty O'Doul and Franco Thompson to help them out. Whenever a team has two men like these to lead a team, strong aggregation it is no cause for thanksgiving among the rival managers.

Just as the big leagues open along come some statistician and advances figures which, he says, proves the contention that the American league is the faster circuit of the two. In the exhibition games the teams of the American league have made much the better records, although the National league is supposed to be much better balanced from top to bottom.

The story swirls around Diony Hall, who marries Berk-Jarvis on the eve of that leader's departure from Virginia for Kentucky as head of the first band of pioneers to cross the Daniel Boone Trail to Fort Harrod in the latter named state. Evan Muir, an early disappointed suitor of Diony, becomes an important factor in highly dramatic Kentucky Arden twist which completes the tale.

John Mack Brown Scores

John Mack Brown repeats his triumph of "Billy The Kid" with his Berk-Jarvis. This husky young man, comes up from these rough and ready roles, and his charming Southern accent fits perfectly into the characterization.

Eleanor Boardman is delightful as Diony. In the scenes concerning the birth of her child she gives a moving interpretation of the trials and the bravery of the pioneer woman. Gavron, in Gordon, or Greta, Garbo's "Romance" is a strong and vital Evan Muir.

Lucille La Verne is dynamic as the sturdy pioneer mother, Elvira Jarvis, whose death at the hands of Black Fox, an Indian Chief, supplies important motivation for the story.

ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE IN "THE GREAT MEADOW."

John Mack Brown and Eleanor Boardman Give Outstanding Performances in Stirring Tale of Pre-Revolutionary Times.

An engrossing page out of American history, "The Great Meadow," Charles Brabin's striking talking picture, at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

Brabin and his collaborator on the story, Edith Ellis, have made a highly convincing talking picture version of the much-discussed novel by Elizabeth Madox Ford. They have taken rich (red meat out of a story replete with pioneer adventure, and larded it with appropriate spicings of strong drama, comedy and pathos.

ROMANTIC HISTORY OF ACADIANS CLOAKS ALL OF TECHE COUNTY

Land of Evangeline Offers Storehouse of Tourist Seeking Quaint and Picturesque Haunts.

Life is mortal but fame immortal. Longfellow in achieving renown for himself by genius, so enraptured the Teche county of Louisiana with a mantle of human interest and compassion in the story of Evangeline that it lives in memory as a land set apart and peopled by foreigners transplanted.

To what degree the legends still cling to this old land of religious freedom is seen by the traveler in search of quaint and picturesque haunts. In spite of time's passage the village of St. Martinville still remains a small town but the atmosphere of sentiment and history so permeates all of this region that the lure is as potent as the fragrance of its flowers.

In that old French town, with its avowed allegiance pledged in turn to the Fleur-de-lis of France, the Union Jack of Great Britain, the yellow and red of old Spain and the Stars and stripes, the old Acadian speech, unmodified since the days of Evangeline is still spoken. On Bayou Teche is America's most famous tree, the Evangeline Oak, where the reward of constancy was met by the faithfulness of Louis Arceaneux, the Gabriel of Longfellow's verses. This also marks the spot where the Acadians persecuted and self-exiled from Acadia, a town near the northeastern boundary line between Canada and the United States, landed in 1765.

The story of Evangeline was a true one except in denouncement. Evangeline, or in reality, Emmeline Labiche, was a orphan of 16, betrothed to her childhood sweetheart a splendid young Acadian of St. Gabriel, Louis Arceaneux.

After the bans of marriage were publicly announced in the village church, before the ceremony could be consummated Louis was wounded by British sailors in an attack on the French village, and was carried on board a ship as a prisoner of war, which set sail for unknown lands while the grief stricken Emmeline stood powerless to aid.

The Acadians, refusing to sacrifice God, king and country after repeated attacks during the French and Indian war, were driven into exile. Burning their beloved village before English occupation, they started a journey south but were overpowered by soldiers and were placed on ships bound for British colonies. Families were separated and hardship and unhappiness were endured until some were finally landed in Maryland to find a Catholic haven already established. With them went Emmeline seeking always her lover.

After several years' stay in Maryland news came of a French settlement in Louisiana where many St. Gabriel families had found refuge, and a great exodus ensued among those who were seeking friends and family relations. The journey was made overland through the wilderness peopled with unfriendly Indians, and a new trail was blazed under difficulties.

When Tennessee was reached the pioneer wagons were abandoned and the Acadians set out on rafts to float down the Tennessee, Ohio and Mississippi rivers to Southern Louisiana. After months of travel they landed at the Poste des Otakapas, now known as St. Martinville, La., situated in a green, fertile valley on the land lying between the Teche and the Vermilion rivers, later becoming peaceful villages and growing cities—Lafayette, New Iberia, Abbeville and St. Martinville.

When the colony gathered on the river bank to greet the newcomers, news of their coming having preceded them, Emmeline found Louis at last, but a changed Louis who bade her forget as he had pledged his faith to another. Man's love is of man's life a thing apart—but it was woman's whole existence, and Emmeline's whole existence became deranged. In the flowering woods she spent hours gathering rosemary and rue, humming old love songs, still seeking until she found rest in a grave near the spot where she found Louis. So pure in heart, so unable to cope with life's vicissitudes, small wonder it is that the Acadians called her Evangeline, God's little angel.

Evangeline, based on the American classic of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, has recently been filmed with Dolores del Rio in the title role. She so endeared herself to the townspeople of St. Martinville during her stay at the hotel, New Iberia, while filming the picture, that she was called the new Evangeline.

Becoming interested in the character and in her neglected grave on the banks of the Teche, Miss del Rio started a fund for a suitable monument to mark it, which met with generous response from the members of the filming company under the direction of James Cruze. After the film had its premiere in New Orleans April 29, Miss del Rio was to unveil the monument in the Teche country.

STANISLAUS COLLEGE ECHOES

SODALITY NOTES FOR APRIL MEETING.

Meeting was called to order by Brother Edmund, who occupied the chair throughout the meeting. Due to the length of the minutes of the previous meeting, Lacour was exempt from his duties.

Colotta gave the names of those who have not yet paid their dues. It was voted that the last day for payment be May 1st.

The questions that were taken up last week were answered by the Pamphlet Committee. More questions were taken up and are to be answered at the next meeting. Very good answers were given by Wilson, Dam, B. Labry, Aylesworth, B. Masterson, B. Lyons and Baquet.

Brother Edmund announces that the organization of the League of Sodality was completed Thursday. The first meeting is to be held April 19th.

H. Gasque opens a forum on the questions of drinking. The boys all agreed that it was all right to drink a small amount, but it is very good to know your capacity. Real Catholic answers were given by Horne, Lyons, Robichaux, Aylesworth, Jacobs and Vallon.

Just about this time Brother Casimir came in and was invited to give his opinion. He said, "I'm only a chemist and my duty is to test, not to taste it." Not so much satisfaction there.

A motion for the continuation of the subject was seconded and the meeting was brought to a close.

The first meeting of the Gulf Coast Sodality Union will take place at the College, April 18th at three o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to elect officers and to transact any other business that may arise.

that shelters it. Some of the court records bear the date of 1750.

Bayou Teche, winding through this country like a snake, bears the Indian name for snake. Before the advent of the Acadians the Attakapas tribe of Indians lived in this region and Catashoula Lake, nine miles distant from St. Martinville, was their sacred lake of transparent water reflecting towering live oaks festooned with moss. If the traveler is enraptured with his surroundings and in a retrospective mood perhaps the face of Evangeline may sadly smile back at him from its translucent depths.—Merrill P. Hudson in Commercial Appeal.

NUISANCE TAX PROVES FAILURE AS PREDICTED

Income From This Source Falls Far Below Estimated Amount.

After repeated refusals to levy a tobacco-nuisance tax, the Mississippi Legislature finally yielded last year. Dispatches from Jackson this week reported the fund set up to defray the collection expenses nearing exhaustion already, though it was expected to meet these costs to December 31 next. Not only have receipts from the tax fallen short of the estimate, but they are still shrinking. Shortage of funds to defray the traveling expenses of the field agents will necessitate drastic curtailment of their "tours of inspection," it is announced and this may further reduce the yield. "Bootlegging" of cigarettes is being practiced on a growing scale, we gather from the Jackson report, which credits Chairman Franklin of the Mississippi State Tax Commission with the comment: "It's my guess that the nuisance tax law will be repealed next January anyhow, because it is a nuisance."

The Mississippi nuisance tax on "amusements" is said to be holding up to anticipation, but it anticipated yield was only $8,000 a month, and when the expenses of collection are deducted the net return probably will be found insufficient to justify the tax.

BASKET PICNIC AND POLITICAL RALLY AT PINE GROVE CHURCH

Picnic and Political Rally Nine Miles Northwest of Picaune May 13.

Industrial Consolidated and Pine Grove Church will be the scene of a basket picnic and political rally on Wednesday, May 13, scene of this gathering to be nine miles northwest of the town of Picaune.

The people of the above named community are making preparation to entertain at least two thousand people on the above named date. They are planning to make this the largest event of the year in this county and section of the state. They want all the people in a radius of fifty miles to be present and are asking the public to make necessary preparation to attend this big rally day.

Three of the candidates for governor have already accepted invitations to speak and the others have been invited and are expected to be present.

All other state, district and county candidates are being invited to attend. Dinner will be served on the ground, refreshments will be plentiful and convenient, music will be rendered by a good band and everything also that can be done will be prepared to make the day a success.

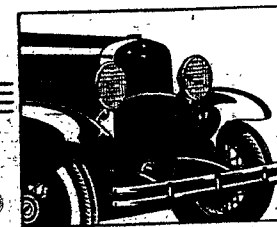

In order to see that this is a great day and well attended the advertising committee is distributing 10,000 circulars in Pearl River and adjoining counties inviting the people to come.

More complete information and the day's program will appear later.

MUSIC CLUB SCORES.

Chorus of Gypsies—(Under Miss Mary Perkins)—Misses Louise Carriere, Elsie Lizana, Katherine, and Frances Scaife, Yvette Telhiard, Delia Lizana, Carrie Schiro, Eran LeBlanc, Alice Camors, Joyce Wolfe, Cecelia Toledo, Yvonne La Coste, Joan Mauffray, Dot Moss. Gypsy Dancers—Ruth Ward, Adean Chauvet, Dorothy Tudury. Scene: A vineyard. Time: (At the beginning of the forenoon, progressing toward evening of the same day.)

ARGUMENT.

The scene is laid in Spain, during the grape-harvest. A band of merrymen are at work amid the vines, and true to their national characteristics, are full of life and merriment. Margaret, a young lady (American) wandering among the vines is invited by the grape-pickers to join in their amusements. The mid-day rest is enlivened by the arrival of a troupe of Gypsies, who sing and dance. One of the Gypsies tells the fortunes of several of the grape-pickers. Margaret, suddenly discovering that her neck is being touched, and accuses the Gypsies of having stolen it. The Gypsies are greatly angered and a dramatic fight is created. Lola, however, who is Margaret's aunt and the representative of the vineyard, intervenes and prevents the fight. Margaret, however, is not satisfied and accuses the Gypsies of having stolen her necklace. The Gypsies are greatly angered and a dramatic fight is created. it had become caught while Margaret was gathering grapes. After its recovery, singing and dancing are resumed, ending in a chorus of farewell to the scene of the day's occupations and events.

Mrs. H. C. Glover was the unfortunate lady who lost the necklace, but fortunate, indeed it was for the audience that the part fell to her. Most parts of the operetta were very difficult but to each and every passage so demanding and exacting, Mrs. Glover was equal to the occasion, giving a most exquisite rendition, particularly the high notes.

Mrs. Hubert Canty, as Lola, the grape gatherer, had the second part and her voice, too, has been heard frequently to advantage. This occasion was no exception. Her voice, chattering like a bird, was true to every musical instinct of the musical composition and scored correctly and pleasingly.

Mrs. E. J. Bonomi, Miss Margaret Green, Miss Harriet Perkins and Miss Elsie Mauffray, with various solos added to the creditable manner in which the evening's presentation was made, and the chorus gave every evidence, as well as good voices, properly trained and singing to advantage.

The Gypsy dancers added color and the dancing was quite a feature. The Gypsies figured in the grape-picking scenes and one does not have to draw far on his or her imagination to view the gypsy and beauty of the scene.

The Gypsies, too, were noteworthy. Their music, which was made up of a variety of instruments, and their dancing, which was quite a feature, added to the interest of the evening.

LADIES' BANQUET ORIOLE

Members of Women's Benevolent Association Celebrate Twentieth Birthday of Order.

Representing a veritable fairy bow of the interior of the Oriole Tea Room with its spacious dining room and hallway, served as a setting for the banquet on Wednesday night of the twentieth birthday of the national order of Women's Benevolent Association, of which Bay St. Louis has a most active branch, Miss Miriam Engman, president, and Mrs. Kate Connors, vice-president. Wild flowers and a wealth of natural roses and other flowers combined to transpire the place into one of unforgettable beauty. Pink and green formed the color motif, of most harmonious shades.

The Oriole's well-known dainty and artistic service was brought out to full advantage and served the event all to advantage. A huge birthday cake was placed at the head of the table, iced in pink, at which place sat Supreme Regional Director, Mrs. Pearl H. Croy, of Birmingham, Ala. Presenting at the principal speaker of the evening, dwell on the subject with emphasis and told of the forthcoming national convention and to which she urged as full attendance as possible. It is known Bay St. Louis will be well represented in Chicago this summer for the occasion.

The birthday celebration in Bay St. Louis, with Miss Miriam Engman, ably assisted, will long be remembered for its beauty, effectiveness and the constructiveness which W. B. A. represents.

The list of those present follows: Supreme Regional Director, Mrs. Pearl H. Croy, Birmingham, Ala.; District Deputy, Mrs. Fay Arguillas of Biloxi, Miss.; Mrs. Lucille Moore, Biloxi, Miss.; Miss Miriam Engman, President; Mrs. Kate Connors, Vice-President; Mrs. Vature Ford, Mrs. Mildred Piazza, Mrs. Elsie Bopp, Mrs. Francis Landry, Mrs. Catherine Blaize, Mrs. Louise Fayard, Mrs. Elizabeth Capdepon, Mrs. Pearl Beuhler, Mrs. Odile Stevenson, Mrs. Betty Reineke, Mrs. Yvonne Kirm, Mrs. Mary Carter, Mrs. Bessie Murtagh, Mrs. Louise Hobbs, Mrs. C. Bothe, Mrs. John Damborino, Misses Levia Engman Dora Necaise, Irma Koch, Yvonne Tremoulet, Marie Vassali, Emma Fayard, Lucille St. Amant, Margaret Fayard, Eran LeBlanc, Ione Manier, Katherine Burg.

BAY ST. LOUIS WOMAN FIRST TO ENJOY USUAL POSITION

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard Elected For Two Consecutive Years as District Deputy Grand Matron O. E. S.

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard of Bay St. Louis, district deputy grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star, paid her official visit to the chapter at Pascagoula Tuesday night and visited the chapter for her official visit Thursday night, this completing her visits to all chapters of her district, preparatory to attending grand chapter meeting in Hattiesburg next week.

Mrs. Leonhard and party including Miss Betty Huber of Long Island, N. Y., her houseguest, Miss Irma Koch, page to the grand chapter, Miss Miriam Engman, representative of the Bay St. Louis chapter to grand chapter, will leave by motor Sunday morning for Hattiesburg. Mrs. Leonhard has been named grand marshal to serve at this annual meeting of grand chapter, this appointment having been made recently by Miss Sue Waller of Wiggins, worthy grand matron. Mrs. Leonhard served as grand marshal last year and is probably the first woman in Mississippi to have held a similar position in grand chapter for two consecutive years.

Mrs. Rene Buckley and daughter, Miss Dorothy, from Enterprise, Miss., are visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Chas. Buckley, the former Mrs. Buckley's son. The guests have visited heretofore and have a circle of friends to welcome their return.

The story visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fayard in Sycamore street during the Easter-tide, and added a son to the already interesting family. Mr. Fayard is in charge of the men's clothing and furnishing department of Engman's Enterprise Store.

Miss Elizabeth Betrand, who has been visiting Miss L. C. Del Boudin and her sister, Miss Marie E. Betrand on the Pass Christian beach, left for Washington, D. C. Monday night en route to Haiti, where she is appointed a government position in the consular service, and in which work she is experienced.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Betrand are building a pier of approximately 140 feet out into the sound for Rudy O'Dwyer, on the Waveland beach front, constructed of cross-hatched piling. The top is built rather low, rather than the usual high, in order to avoid the washing of heavy waves at high tide. Mr. Boudin made specialty of building piers and bath houses.

Officially appointed a committee of three, Messrs. John J. McDonald, H. U. Canty and Alden Mauffray, will have charge of transportation of Gulf Park College party to and from Bay St. Louis Friday evening on occasion of presentation of Gulf Park Frolics, for Bay Rotary Club.

Mr. McDonald is chairman of the committee. This committee wishes as many volunteer autos as will go to Gulfport for Friday evening to transport the party.

MRS. H. D. DA PONTE'S CHARMING AFTERNOON BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. Harry D. DaPonte was hostess Wednesday noon at her home to a delightful bridge party, the compelling intricacies of auction at cards proving as popular and fascinating as ever.

Mrs. H. Durante DaPonte's guests for this delightful occasion included Mrs. J. D. Tchopik, Miss Lula Tchopik, Mrs. D. K. Steenan, Mrs. J. B. O'Kelley, all of Pass Christian; Mrs. F. Diebold, Mrs. T. Behnan, playing cards with Mrs. Ralph Ruggan, Mrs. M. Ansley, Mrs. E. P. Ivy, Mrs. W. A. Staehle, Mrs. K. W. Peperdene, Mrs. Henry M. Osinach, Mrs. J. L. Bynum, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau.

Scoring high for prizes were Mrs. C. G. Moreau, Mrs. E. P. Ivy, Mrs. K. W. Peperdene in the order named. A delectable two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. DaPonte at the attractive home on South Beach Boulevard. A feature of the afternoon's season of so much charm and pleasure was lodged in the fact of the decorations which interposed here and there in artistic random of various-colored stork and immaculate dogwood. It was evident spring is here. On all sides was evidenced the glories of the season.

Mr. DaPonte is a hostess with that gift of knowing-how and it was easy to see how her afternoon of bridge could be nothing but the success it proved.

MRS. GEO. R. REA ENTERTAINS MUSIC CLUB TO COMPLAINMENT MRS. THORNHILL BROOME.

Springtime in all its pristine glory and joy was reflected in the floral decoration which served for the setting on the occasion of the "afternoon tea" given Wednesday by Mrs. Geo. R. Rea, honoring Mrs. Thornhill Broome and her mother of Pass Christian in compliment to Mrs. Broome's successful effort as dramatic directress on the occasion of presentation last Saturday evening of the operetta "The Lost Necklace" by the Schubert Music Club, of which Mrs. Rea is past president.

Bunches of gorgeous half-opened rose buds filled a number of vases set in fetching contrast and harmonious beauty about the living room. The dining room table from which tea was poured, was decorated in Fostoria blue glass of latest shape and pattern, while the silver tea and coffee service sets reflected an individuality all its own. The dominant color in soft contrast was pink, four candles of this shade serving as demarcation of the four corners of the center piece—a bowl of huge pink Kalamazoo roses.

Corsage bouquets of pink roses both for the honorees were presented.

Members of the Schubert Club including scenic in number formed the main number of guests. A pleasing program of vocal solos were rendered, appropriate and adding to the afternoon.

Mrs. Rea was a charming hostess and the success of her beautiful afternoon tea reflected her own gracious personality.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

SCHUBERT MUSIC CLUB - GIVES OPERETTA FOR S. J. A.

Play A Great Success

The large audience that witnessed "The Lost Necklace" staged by the Schubert Club at the S. J. A. Memorial Hall last Saturday night, was unanimous in its praises of the talent displayed by the members of the well-known Bay St. Louis Music Club.

A fine crowd was in attendance and up to date $136.50 has been given to Mother Claire to help diminish the debt on the new Memorial Hall.

S. J. A. finds it difficult to voice adequately the gratitude which it feels toward the Schubert Club for its wonderful demonstration of helpfulness and cooperation. The Sisters can only say a sincere, "Thank you" to each and every one of the ladies concerned assuring them meanwhile that their names will often be whispered in prayer to Him who alone can adequately reward.

S. J. A. wishes to voice its thanks to Mrs. Thornhill Broome and Mrs. Val Yates for their valuable assistance in directing the play.

To the Woodmen of the World and the Knights of Columbus for the loan of their chairs; to the St. Stanislaus College Band for the music provided before the play and to all who in any way helped to make the play the big success that it was. S. J. A. wishes to express most heartfelt thanks.

S. J. A. TO PARTICIPATE IN TRACK MEET AT BILOXI SATURDAY.

The track meet to be held in Biloxi this Saturday is exciting a great deal of enthusiasm around S. J. A. Quite a few are entering the meet while many others are going to cheer S. J. A. on to victory. Although track hasn't been the outstanding sport this year at S. J. A. all of the entries look pretty good and here's wishing them "luck."

Among those to represent S. J. A. for the four girls' events scheduled are the following: Marie Quintini, Eleanor Attaway, Nicolina St. Angelo, Ann Partridge, Catherine Scaife, Frances Scaife, Alice Camors and Evelyn Perre.

There is no mortification, however keen it may be, however desperate, which the spirit of woman cannot in some degree lighten or alleviate.—Lord Beaconsfield.
